Services via your company?

Does your company attach importance to the well-being of its employees and do you, as an employer, like to have well-tempered and equipped staff who still have enough time for leisure and family outside working hours?

Strijkdienst Duwijck can help you with this and offers you the opportunity to profile yourself socially.

How?

Employees bring their ironing with them to work.

We come and collect it from you, 'free of charge' and return it 2 days later, neatly ironed. Payment is made with tax-friendly service cheques.

Practical arrangement?

We provide you with a folder with what we offer and our working method. You can hand this out for information, to your employees. You appoint someone as contact/person responsible. You provide a dry area within your company for your employees and our courier, where the ironing bins can be stacked.

We agree on a set time for collection and return of the ironing.

For more information and concrete agreements we would love to visit you.
